UNCLE MAY'S

Uncle May's Produce

The First Data & Distribution Platform for Black Food Consumption

Retail stores + vendor network + proprietary data layer powering a $120B+ underserved market with no system of record

Problem

- 67% of Black shoppers visit 3+ stores monthly (Progressive Grocer)
- 40% say their store doesn't carry their cultural foods (McKinsey)
- Stores in Black neighborhood stock 52% fewer produce varieties (USDA)
- No system captures Black food demand at the SKU level

Our Platform

- Retail stores capture real-time consumer demand
- Vendor network enables direct sourcing and distribution
- Data layer aggregates SKU-level insights across products, pricing, and behavior

Retail is the acquisition engine for data, demand, and supply

Market + Validation

Massive, Underserved Market

$800B U.S. grocery market

$120B+ underserved cultural segment

$340B Projected Black food spending growth

Validation:

97% of surveyed consumers would shop

89% would refer others

KKR recently valued this model at $1B+ for Hispanic consumers

Why this wins (Moat)

- First system of record for Black food consumption
- Only model combining retail + data + vendor.
- Curated 4,000 SKU format. Trader Joes proves this model generates 3-4X industry rev/sqft

Traction + Investment

» Hyde Park flagship with $8M+ revenue baseline

» $620-$720 rev/sqft projected, above$500-$600 industry avg

» Raise: $400K-$750K SAFE | $25K minimum

» Use: Close SBA + launch flagship

Closing final equity tranche to activate flagship launch
